GET TO KNOW & LOVE PORTLAND

Portland is a city that's easy to get to know and love. Hop on a METRO bus, private trolley or transit tour, or simply take a stroll along our tree-lined brick sidewalks in the Old Port and Arts Districts.

One of downtown Portland's best features is that it's so walkable with the waterfront always just a few blocks away. Whatever your ultimate destination, give yourself a little extra time because you'll find yourself pausing often to visit an intriguing specialty shop or boutique, explore an art gallery, or enjoy a little refreshment.

We are proud that most of our shops, restaurants and galleries are locally and independently owned, some of which are family owned for the second or third generation. It's one of the reasons that you'll experience a level of customer service that is hard to find these days.

Restaurants of all descriptions abound offering a culinary experience that you will not soon forget. Portland delights many visiting "foodies" for the number of our fine dining restaurants led by nationally honored chefs.

As you explore Portland, expect the unexpected. Down by the Ocean Gateway Terminal or the Maine State Pier you may well look out to the water and see a harbor seal looking back at you. Be sure to take a ride on our public water ferry system, Casco Bay Lines, and visit one of the many islands in Casco Bay.

Thanks in part to the city's long and distinguished history and preservation-minded citizenry, you'll find an architectural gem around just about every corner. It may be a building on the grand scale, like Portland City Hall, which presides over a plaza at the top of Exchange Street and designed in the French Renaissance style by the New York firm of Carrere and Hastings, architects of the New York Public Library. It may be an often-overlooked detail, like the bust of Vulcan, high on the facade of Mechanics Hall on Congress Street. It may be a charming work of public art like the little horse fountain on Federal Street, which features gargoyle fish and is dedicated to a former president of the Maine State Society for the Protection of Animals.

Portland is so beautifully compact; it's a short distance from the waterfront with its splendid views to the endless charms of the Old Port, into the center of the city along Congress Street, and up to the Arts District, whose crowning glory is the world-class Portland Museum of Art designed by I.M. Pei.

Be sure not to miss the adjacent Children's Museum & Theatre of Maine, and the nearby Institute of Contemporary Art at the Maine College of Art. In the evening, take in a show at Portland Stage Company, State Theatre or at the stunningly renovated Merrill Auditorium.

Top off the evening with a beverage from one of many fine local breweries, and sample the lively local music scene at a bar or club.

With its beautiful natural setting; its blend of small-town warmth and urban sophistication; and its countless cultural, historic, and recreational attractions, Portland indeed captivates everyone.

The Clipper Ship Trade Wind Jewelry Collection

Early December, 1868 – A man left Gardiner, Maine, traveled to New York City, boarded his clipper ship, sailed it as its captain around the tip of South America up to San Francisco, then on to Java, Burma, and China. Almost two years later with his ship laden with sugar and tea, he returned home first to New York then to Gardiner, Maine, and his loving family as he had done many times before.

Captain Drew kept an unusually detailed handwritten account of his journeys. We have the captain's log, a beautifully written document also illustrated by the captain.

We are serializing this story on our website.

The captain's log was loaned to us by the captain's great-great-grandson Keith, who goes on gem-buying expeditions to the Orient each year to acquire gems in the cutting centers of the world. Keith brings these gems back to New England where he creates beautiful jewelry, making monthly additions to our Clipper Ship Trade Wind Jewelry Collection. We have the journal and Keith's jewelry collection.

Keith, our gem buyer and designer of our Clipper Ship Trade Wind Jewelry Collection, travels to the gem fields of Southeast Asia each year for the best, brightest, true blue sapphires and other gems.

He returns to New England to design and set these gems into rings, earrings and necklaces.

Women love the low profile, practical, wearable, durable simplicity of these designs.

Over 100 of the best Clipper Ship designs on display in our store and online.

Fiddlehead

Ornament on a ship's bow
Curved scroll at the head of a violin
Unfurling frond of certain ferns.

In 1919, William Cross, a master jeweler in Portland, Maine, hand-carved this design for his daughter's 16th birthday. He chose the fiddlehead motif for its symbolism of new life, purity, peace, and the strength of relationship.

The original ring has been handed down to four generations of daughters in the Cross family.

We are now offering this Cross family design for someone cherished in your family.

Annie

My Great-Grandmother Was A Gibson Girl

My great-grandmother Annie was a Gibson Girl. She and my great-grandfather met in the 1890s. She was tall, blonde, blue-eyed, wore her hair up, dressed impeccably, and in every photograph of her she was beautiful. My great-grandfather, William Cross, was a photographer, jeweler, and a master hand-engraver. He was excellent at each of these skills. In all her photographs, (and the family has dozens) she wore her hair up. It curled, swirled, and somehow her hair always managed to stay neatly, perfectly in place.

Great-grandfather William as a jeweler, made many hundreds of these Gibson Girl rings and remarkably we still have his archival collection of original masters. From William's masters of Gibson Girl rings we've chosen to make one we consider to be the perfect size, perfect look, perfect balance.

Today's revival of the Gibson Girl Ring is made with your choice of center gem and two accent diamonds. The size, spacing, low-profile, comfortable, finger-hugging design make these rings eternal. The finishing touch design detail that made Gibson Girl rings such classics in the late 19th century was the hand-engraved curves and swirl patterns.

We have revived this style ring from one-hundred years ago and I believe that of the forty-plus years I've run Cross, this is the prettiest, most desirable ring we've ever made.

Desire...

There is a need to buy, a desire, a want, a wish like an itch. You know, you know you just want something. Now.
We suspect what you're dreaming of is a sapphire ring.

Why you need one of these 5 rings

You know how you feel about blue.

Everyone loves blue above all other colors.

Now imagine one of these 5 rings on your right hand. Imagine it with you everyday. Low profile, smart crisp true blue, the gold surrounds the gem. The color is there singing its own little tune on your finger from morning to night...simply a delight to your mind, heart and soul.

We have these 5 rings and 100 more.

Visit us if you can or see out website for click and buy.

Maine Blueberry Stone*

This is a hoot! It's fun, playful, and such a surprise.

Maine is known for a lot of things: moose, lobsters, and of course, wild blueberries. Last year 86 million pounds of blueberries were harvested here in Maine. That's a lot of blueberry muffins. Maine is the wild blueberry capital of the world. So when we discovered this new stone we knew we just had to have it. It's a salt and pepper granite with little blue azurite spheres nestled within.

Cut and polished, the blueberries appear scattered beautifully across the surface as only nature can do... we've never seen anything quite like it.

Set in sterling silver with 18" chain.

Pendants $195.00 - $345.00

Price depends on size and blueberry distribution.

Currier and Ives Snow Opal*

Pendants

These little gems are pure magic, old New England winter scenes. Captured in gem opal* are frozen ponds and streams, snow hills and valleys, and snow-covered open fields. They are winter-white-perfect, over the river and through the woods, trees in black lace silhouetted against a winter-gray sky. Think ice-covered grasses, Queen Anne's Lace, black crows on the wing, twilight winter's sleep, and stars in the sky.

Snow Opal Pendants.....$195.00 to $495.00

Price varies by size and detail

18" sterling silver chain, shown actual size

*"Snow opal" is its name. The gem material is natural agatized quartz.

Visit us on-line, make your selection, give us a call or if you're within 100 miles of Portland, stop in and choose in person. They really are magic.

Flash of Red, A 1,000-Foot Cliff, A Shepherd Boy's Discovery Rewrites World Opal History

2008. WELO, ETHIOPIA, EAST AFRICA. World's most important discovery of opal in 100 years. This is an historic discovery. This is color, not just in the eyes, it's an aura of color felt with the heart, color unlike anything ever seen or sensed; color vibrating at the tips of your fingers, color that darts, vanishes and reappears, one moments it's red, one moment and on to ghostly blues and spectral greens, apparition-like, playing, dancing, cavorting across the surface.

Absolutely
 The best opal collection ever.
 See it online or visit us if you can.

Opal Colors Dreaming Within Gems

Colors dreaming within the gems. Look once, look twice, look a hundred times, always different. Carry one close to your heart, pendant/necklace, hold colors near the ear, and for dramatic moments of outreach, a bracelet and a ring too.

No matter what we say, it can't convey, no matter what we show in print and video, they can't begin to explain. Visit us and see. Visit us and in two minutes you will see something you never knew existed, you couldn't possibly have known. Your heart will know, you must have, must take home with you...Everything is Early Welo, amazing values. Welo opals set in 22 karat yellow gold.

We have the definitive collection of Welo opal in New England. Each gem is individually chosen, lovingly handcrafted into fine jewelry.

Hand Crafted Made in New England

Where Does Time Go to Rest?

Time goes to a place where the four winds are free
To meet and play in the tree tops and dance with the full moon.
Listen closely for the faint familiar music you hear...
The trees are whispering their island dreams into the night wind.

Island spruce, hand-pierced from sterling silver.
14K yellow gold moon rising.
18-inch sterling silver chain.

X4126...$195

Island Dreams Necklace

Family Birds on a Wire Necklace

Family, the warmest word in the world. It's your mom, dad, brothers, sisters, grandma and grandpa, and it's you as a mom or dad, and your sons and daughters. Family is everything.
Family is all. Family you feel in your heart.
Our Birds on a Wire is family in touch, family connected, family getting together celebrating holidays, new babies, graduation, and families in sorrow too.

Family is always there...always.
Pendant comes with an 18" chain.

Two to Six Birds on a Wire...$165.00

A True Friend, A Best Friend Is A Gift Forever

You know what it feels like to have a friend, and you know what it feels like to have a true friend.

The talks, the deep soul-felt conversations.
A cup of coffee, some time, time to sit and you know how good you feel after you've spent the morning together.
Seasons pass. The friendship remains.
Our two little birds, together on a branch, are exquisitely hand-pierced by Caroline Golden.
Hand-made design magically shows the two birds hand-pierced in different seasons.

Front: Spring - Summer (two birds on a tree with leaves)

Back: Fall - Winter (two birds on a tree with leaves)

An Email you'll absolutely love to get

You'll see the rare, the exotic and the unusual and sometimes you will see something so cute, so ordinary but so cute you simply can't resist...we understand.

I have close to 10,000 unopened emails. I know how you feel about inviting one more marketer trying to sell you something. Which is why we've worked so hard to make our emails truly count, entertain and enthrall, and yes I have a couple of dozen favorite emails I open every week.

Go to our website to sign up, if we ever disappoint you, we deserve to be deleted, you can easily delete us in 20 seconds.

You'll be delighted with your new discoveries.

High Tide, Low Tide Cuff Bracelet

“Life’s a Beach,” the bumper sticker says. And if you live at the beach, high and low tide create the rhythm of the day. What you do is different depending on whether the tide is in or out.

Silver waves rise and fall against a dark sky. One size fits most. Sterling silver.
